

Get amazing value from BT iNet, your NHS colleagues have....

Whether you're looking for LAN, Wireless or IPT communications solutions, you'll find that BT has become seriously price competitive and refreshingly fast on our feet. That's because you can now take advantage of the undivided attention of BT iNet.

We are an agile and effectively autonomous business unit with a highly professional, health orientated team that combines unique skillsets with the unrivalled buying power of the BT Group.

BT iNet will source the most appropriate products for you, from leading technology suppliers like Cisco and Aruba. We will do it at the right price, at the right time. We will also integrate your new equipment and maintain it for you, as required.

Here's what just two of our customers say about the quality of service they've experienced with BT iNet:

Shane Cantwell, Networks Manager, John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford, states: "Value for money is not just about price. It's also about getting it right first time, as planned and agreed. It's about the quality of support you receive in life. And it's about empathy and mutual respect. BT iNet hit all those buttons for us."

Bob Muncey, Infrastructure Development Project Manager, Gloucestershire PCT states: "We tended to "shop around" for good prices and we are very pleased with the delivery, service and competitive prices offered by BT iNet on Cisco equipment. We will certainly continue to get quotations from BT iNet."

To find out more about the value for money you can expect from BT iNet, contact the BT iNet Health team on insert number.